About Lifelites

Lifelites donates specialist assistive technology packages to over 10,000 children and young people with life-limiting, life-threatening and disabling conditions using every one of the 60 children's hospice services throughout the British Isles.

The hospices do not pay a penny towards the equipment and services donated by Lifelites. So while their staff time and funds are concentrated on caring for the children and their families, Lifelites looks after the complex technology and ensures it is kept in good working order for the children for whom every second counts.

The equipment, ongoing technical support and training at each hospice costs Lifelites around £50,000 over four years and is paid for entirely through donations.
